W. CAMERON DIES FROM INJURIES WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

Charles O'Connor Is Badly Injured In Accident at Roscoe Crossing

One man is dead and another lies in the hospital seriously injured as the result of a grade crossing accident yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the San Fernando road near the Lankershim road junction, at Roscoe.

According to R. W. Parmelee, 1460 East California avenue, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church, who was driving north on San Fernando road near the scene of the accident at the time, the two men were apparently coming south, as they had not passed him. Nearing the grade crossing, he heard the engine, which was pulling only a box car and caboose, give a sharp whistle, and looking up, noticed a large cloud of dust at the crossing. His first thought was that the train had been wrecked, but as soon as the caboose emerged from the dust, knew this was not the case. Chickens escaping from Cam-

PLANS FOR HOTEL BEING FURTHERED

Stockholders Hold Meeting To Decide on Program For $500,000 Project

The $500,000 hotel contemplated at the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and California avenue, on the property owned by Dr. E. H. Parker, will stand completed by the middle of 1924, it was announced this morning by J. B. Burn, secretary of the Glendale Hotel company.

The announcement follows a meeting last night of the stockholders and directors of the corporation, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, 150 South Brand boulevard, when the following important action was taken.

First—Ratification of the directors' decision to reject each and every bid submitted on the hotel project.

Second—Mutual release of the Glendale Hotel company and Dr. Parker from their obligations and contracts.

Third—Decision to at once dissolve the corporation.

Fourth—Authorization and direction of D. H. Smith, treasurer of the company, to return to the stockholders all moneys paid in except 10 per cent of each entire subscription, this to cover dissolution expenses.

The meeting, which represented approximately 700 shares out of a total of 1250, constituted a legal majority for such action. It was presided over by Dr. E. H. Parker, president of the board of directors. Others present included Mattison B. Jones, vice-president; D. H. Smith, treasurer; J. B. Burn, secretary; R. F. Kitterman and J. A. Endicott.

This action makes effective a contract between Dr. Parker and W. W. Connelley, the latter of Los Angeles, whereby it is proposed to start construction within sixty days of a first-class hotel of not less than four stories and 150 rooms and private baths, containing (Continued on page 8)

HI JOHNSON OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Foreign Policy of Present Administration Comes in For Attack

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Senator Hiram Johnson's campaign for the presidency began in earnest today with the broadside against the present administration's foreign policy as the first blast and with the promise of succeeding rounds on:

First—A firm stand for the soldier bonus and immediate reduction of tax rates on incomes of the lower classes.

Second—Relief for farmers through government aid in co-operative marketing and in reduced freight rates, but opposition to the extension of direct financial aid by price fixing or by government participation in wheat marketing.

Third—Criticism of the United States supreme court for its ruling on the minimum wage law for women and the child labor act and the proposal of an amendment to the constitution to make these laws effective.

Without mentioning Secretary Hughes by name, Senator Johnson tore into the reparations proposals in the first public address of the Californian since his announcement for the presidency. Johnson was honor guest at the annual banquet of the Cook County Real Estate board.

Called Subterfuge
"The reparations proposal at Washington is a transparent subterfuge by gentlemen, who have tried and failed to put us into European politics directly through the League of Nations, and who now wish to get us into the politics of Europe through the indirect road of reparations," Johnson said.

His stand on bonus and tax reduction, both of which were possible, he said, through the surplus in the treasury, was outlined:

"The passage of the soldiers' bonus act you may assert to be financially bad but our pretenses and delays, our shiftings and evasions are morally worse. Nothing so speedily undermines confidence in government as broken pledges."

Address Broadcasted
And on constitutional revision: "If the constitutional prohibitions such laws—child labor and minimum wage of women—then the constitution must be amended."

Senator Johnson's opening campaign address was heard by 900 persons at the banquet and also was broadcasted to the mid-west by radio.

NOVEMBER HITS MILLION DOLLARS

Building Permits Now at $9,121,859 for Year and Still Going Good

Glendale is over the top with $1,000,000 worth of building permits for the month of November. This announcement was made at noon today by Municipal Building Superintendent H. C. Vandewater at his office in the city hall.

As the result of increased activity shown the past week, the total steadily advanced until at 12 o'clock it stood at $1,007,012.

This is the first month since March of this year that the permits have reached the coveted figure, and makes the fourth month in 1923 that Glendale has taken its place in the rank of class A cities of the United States.

Total for Year
The total for the year is $9,121,859, and there is little doubt but what the mark of $10,000,000 which was set as the goal on January 1 will be reached.

Already the permits issued for November, 1923, are double those issued in the corresponding month of 1922, which gives a good idea of the wonderful period of prosperity and activity which this city is enjoying.

Registrars Will Observe Holiday Thanksgiving Day

The two deputy registrars who are placing the names of the voters on the rolls in preparation for the coming sewer bond election on January 8, 1924, will not be on duty tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, at the office of The Glendale Evening News.

It is essential that those who registered since January 1, 1922, and who have since changed their residence, bring their old registration receipts when re-registering at this time.

MANILA, Nov. 28.—Governor Santos of Mindanao province today wired constabulary headquarters that the Moros have raised the red flag everywhere, meaning a holy war has been declared.

NEW BUILDINGS TO COST $81,300

School, Bank and Office Structure Start In Southern Section

Shortly after noon today when the total of building permits had passed the $1,000,000 mark, Elmer Elliott, contractor, of 612 Elk street, appeared at the city hall and made application at the office of the municipal building superintendent for permission to begin construction of three handsome new buildings to be erected in the southern part of the city, at a total cost approximating $81,300.

The new Cerritos avenue school, a three room structure to cost $18,300, and the new Community bank and office building, costing $38,000, will be erected at the corner of Brand Boulevard and San Fernando road, while the home of the Buick agency will be erected at Brand and Maple street at an estimated cost of $25,000.

All three of these buildings will be modern throughout, and will be a wonderful addition to the business section of that portion of Glendale.

MAYOR ROBINSON RELATES GLENDAL'S PLANS TO GET ADEQUATE DISPOSAL PLANT

Delegates from Various Sections Present at Gathering; Hear of Accomplishments, Also Problems of Rich District

By LILLARD BARHAM
Of The Evening News Staff

Glendale's sewer bond issue, which is to be voted on January 8, 1924, will be fixed at $1,600,000, Mayor Spencer Robinson told officers and members of the San Fernando Valley Chambers of Commerce and their guests at dinner in the Tuesday Afternoon club building, in welcoming the associations to Glendale for its annual meeting here.

The mayor was introduced by Jesse E. Smith, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce who presided as toastmaster.

In announcing this important issue to the gathering of 125 persons, among whom were thirty representatives of the various towns throughout the valley, Mayor Robinson reviewed the efforts of Glendale for many years past in trying to secure the sewer system which now is about to materialize. He thanked each of the towns, individually and collectively, for their assistance and co-operation in successfully bringing the sewer project to the valley.

The rate of interest on the proposed bond issue has not been determined, Mayor Robinson announced. Comparisons of other municipal bond rates are being made, he said, and probably within a very few days the rate will be named. Estimates and figures of bond houses are also being checked in an effort to arrive at an equitable rate of interest for the bonds.

To Extend System
Briefly stating what the proposed sewer system will consist of, Mayor Robinson pointed out that eighteen miles of sewer lines would be laid in Glendale, and that the plans call for an extension of the system on through Burbank and into the valley to accommodate the thirteen cities, which, together with Glendale, are represented in the Associated Chambers of Commerce. The speaker also expressed his gratitude for the assistance and co-operation of the Los Angeles City Council in making this possible.

The visiting body, which was headed by President B. R. Hallows of Van Nuys was welcomed to Glendale on behalf of the local Chamber of Commerce by First Vice-President W. E. Hewitt, who gave a comprehensive review of the accomplishments of the San Fernando valley in an agricultural way. This valley, he said, is a metropolitan district of homes, and it has become so largely through the efforts of such organizations as the associated chambers. He quoted figures showing that the value of products of the San Fernando valley for 1922 totaled $22,477,000, and (Continued on page 2)

Its was announced this morning that over 1800 had been present. The various booths were well patronized, and especially the candy and fancywork booths. Miss Leone Hibbert and assistant, in charge of the candy booth, expressed during the entire afternoon and evening, selling all varieties of home-made candy. Miss Audrey Hall's fancywork booth helped to solve the Christmas gift problem for many a purchaser.

The useful apron booth, with Mrs. Queen Danner in charge, and the cooked food booth, were also appreciated and well patronized, and, as usual, the grab bag booth, with Mrs. Jennie Tinner in charge, created considerable amusement and pleasure.

Mrs. Susie Pock, general chairman of the bazaar, expressed with the interest shown by the members and their many friends, and wishes to thank all those having helped to make the affair such a success.

During the early part of the evening a short business meeting was held, when officers for the coming year were nominated as follows: Miss Audrey Hall, president; Mrs. Alma Dutton, senior vice-president; Mrs. Mae Dutton, junior vice-president; Mrs. Cora Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Dora Hall, chaplain. Other officers will be nominated and all officers elected at the next regular meeting of the tent, which will be held December 11, in the American Legion hall on East Broadway. All members are urged to be in attendance at this meeting.

Jolly Afternoon

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Bryan of 1401 El Rite avenue, Verdugo Woodlands was the scene of a charming children's party Saturday afternoon when their daughter Mary Virginia was hostess to a number of intimate friends in celebration of her thirteenth birthday anniversary.

The rooms of the Bryan home were decorated with pink and white sweet peas, used in profusion, and the color scheme of pink and white carried out in the appointments of the refreshment table. The place cards were unique, with alternate questions and answers, and the fruit punch, ice cream, and candy were served in addition to the beautiful birthday cake, with its lighted candles.

Out door games were enjoyed on the lawn, with guessing contests, and folk dancing. Winners of prizes in competitive games were Phoebe Vandewater, Gertrude Leyhe and Flora Bell Cohan.

The guests were Martha and Florence Hendricks, Sylvia Edwards, Gertrude Leyhe, Wanda Bryan, Marion Warzell, Flora Bell Cohan, Jessie Birge, Ivaah Voigt, all of Los Angeles, Alice and Margaret Brennan, Mildred Bowler, Avian Crawford, Florence Brown, Norma Jean Groten, Madeline Ruth Sankhabin, Phoebe Vandewater, of Glendale, Jack Ellen Anderson of Montrose, and the hostess.

Mrs. Bryan was assisted by Mesdames W. H. Morford, W. Birge, Edward Voght, B. Cohan of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Margaret Anderson of Montrose. The guests from Los Angeles, with the exception of a very few, have been guests at the Bryan home on the occasion of Mary Virginia's anniversaries every year since she was two years old, and the annual custom is also a reunion of a close circle of little friends.

Hear Educator

Dr. F. P. Woelner of the University Southern Branch faculty was the speaker at the meeting of the Glendale City Teachers' club, which took place Tuesday afternoon at the Glendale Avenue Intermediate auditorium.

Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, president of the organization, presided and after the reading of the club minutes, the association for the year, who outlined with much force the place of the teacher and school in the community and the value of the public school as a social force for good.

Following the address Miss Julia Robinson, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Spencer Robinson, sang three very pleasing numbers, "Yesterday and Today," "Love Is Living in My Heart" and "My Lindy Lou."

Miss Gladys Sharpe gave a short report from the southern council of the California Teachers' association, on which she has served as delegate for the past two years.

Richardson D. White was elected to represent the supervisory group of the association for the coming year and Miss Bertha Berry the elementary.

The City Teachers Choral club directed by Miss Elsa Brenneman gave two selections at the close of the afternoon.

Dinner Hostess
Mrs. D. M. Dawson of 327 West Broadway entertained at a prettily appointed dinner Tuesday night in honor of her aunt, Mrs. R. R. Rackley, who was celebrating her birthday anniversary.

The table was centered with six carnations and the same color used in the table appointments. A beautiful birthday cake bearing lighted candles, was served upon an old fashioned silver cake tray, that was a wedding gift to the honoree, more than forty years ago, and which she had recently presented to her niece.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Rackley, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lookabaugh, Miss Alice Lookabaugh, Miss Marie Rackley, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Dawson and daughter Marie LaFerne. Mrs. Rackley and her daughter Miss Marie are recent arrivals from Omaha, Nebraska, and are guests at present of Mrs.

added that 1923 would prove to be the equally productive.

Another speaker who addressed the visitors was Henry W. Wright of Los Angeles, member of the county board of supervisors. He told of his recent trip over the San Fernando valley in an airplane, from which he was enabled to get a comprehensive view of the valley's geographical situation. He pledged co-operation of the board in helping Glendale and other towns of the valley to secure not only a sewer system, but help in the problem of flood control and drainage.

Will Solve Problems
"I look forward to the time," the speaker said, "when Glendale and other cities of the San Fernando valley will, either singly or jointly, solve their sewerage, sanitation and drainage problems in a way that will be highly satisfactory to all concerned."

Responding to the addresses of welcome, President Holloway told of the aims of the Associated Chambers of Commerce in working for the betterment of all the towns which they represent, and thanked Glendale especially for the courtesies extended to his organization while in the city. He urged everyone present to get behind the sewer bond issue and see that it is successfully carried out.

The importance of water conservation in the San Fernando valley was stressed by the speaker, who pointed out the growing need for greater water systems for both domestic use and irrigation. Another problem facing the valley, he said, is the absence of public parks. He urged a greater park program to relieve this situation.

Improve Wire Service
The series of addresses on the growth and possibilities of the San Fernando valley was concluded by D. K. Thomas of Los Angeles of the Western Union Telegraph company. He related how the communication system in California had grown from its inception, in 1860, when the first message was sent from Los Angeles to San Francisco, to the present day of modern telegraphy. Glendale has been neglected in telegraphic expansion in recent months, he said, but he added that plans are completed for installing modern equipment in this city that will care for its needs in a satisfactory manner. His remarks in more detail appear elsewhere in this issue of The Glendale Evening News.

Results of the election of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce were announced by J. Herbert Smith, chairman of the election committee, as given elsewhere in this issue.

President Jesse E. Smith of the local chamber, C. D. Lusby and L. T. Rowley were introduced as the new directors appointed to represent Glendale on the board of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

The addresses during the evening were interspersed by musical numbers, including vocal solos by Mrs. Viva Lee Weidman, Miss Marie Oliver and Captain D. Ripley Jackson.

At the conclusion of the program provided by the local Chamber of Commerce, President Smith turned the gavel over to President Holloway, who presided at a business session of the associated chambers. This part of the meeting was devoted to the reading of reports and outlining work of the organization in the future.

Mayor Sends Letter Regarding Fire Fund
Mayor Spencer Robinson as chairman of the entertainment committee of the recent benefit given for the families of Clarence Edwards and Joseph W. McGahan, who lost their lives October 13 in the hill fire, has written a letter to Daniel Campbell, chairman of the fire relief fund committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, stating that the benefit brought a total of $4543.20.

This amount has been deposited in the bank and is now at the disposal of Herman Nelson, treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce committee, to dispense to Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. McGahan in the manner that seems most wise.

Hack Gets Two Straight Falls Over Bull; Stocker And Waltz Fight to Draw

By AL DIX

Of The Evening News Staff.

Bull Montana, "The Hollywood Sheik," lost his match with John Hackenschmidt, Glendale grappler, in two straight falls last night at the Glendale Athletic club. Bull was on the defensive throughout the entire match. Hackenschmidt won the first fall in thirty minutes with a short arm scissors and the second in fifteen minutes with a body scissors and arm lock.

It was the second meeting in Glendale of the two men. On Labor Day they had wrestled for one hour and thirty minutes to a draw, neither man scoring a fall. Last night they went at it hard right from the beginning, but the Glendale entrant soon took the offensive and kept Bull in hot water the entire time. Montana was able to fasten very few holds on Hack, who broke what he was able to get with ease. Bull got out of several bad toe holds, and drew a hand from the crowd.

Match Is Clean
A crowded house greeted the two as they climbed into the ring, and they both appeared to be in the best of condition. Hack gradually wore the movie man down, and Bull was unable to extricate himself from the short arm scissors. During the second fall Hack put this hold on Bull time and again, but Bull evidently had been thinking it over during the intermission, as he was able to break them. The match was very clean, and Bull took his defeat very gracefully.

In the semi-windup, Ernie Stocker of Vernon and Sammy Waltz of Los Angeles fought four rounds to a draw decision. The action of the judges did not appear to meet with the approval of Stocker supporters, who evidently thought their favorite should have been awarded the verdict. Stocker had the first round by a safe margin, and possibly a shade in the second, although it was very close. The third round was even and the fourth was won by a slight margin. It seemed to the writer that a draw was fair to both boys. Neither one scored a clean knock-down, although many thought Stocker had in the third round, when Waltz slipped on the wet canvas in the corner and partially fell through the ropes when they were fighting in close quarters. Stocker is a compact youngster, and had he kept up the pace that he started in the first round, undoubtedly would have won. Waltz is an older head at the game than Stocker, and managed to weather the storm without much difficulty, although Ernie's left jab bothered him at times.

Gets Quick Results
It took Jack Carr just thirty seconds to hand the sleeping mitt to Young Salos of the Columbia Athletic club. Salos rushed from his corner at the first gong and started to mix it, and before the fans hardly knew what was happening, Carr slipped in an uppercut that caused the birds to sling merrily for the Columbia man. Carr did not have a chance to show his wares, but looked good the short time he was in action.

Young Pancho of Pasadena was too much for Young Kerns, and the referee stopped the fight in the third round. Kerns is a beginner, and did not possess the knowledge to stop Pancho's rushes. He showed willingness to take punishment, however, that bodes well for the future.

As an added fight, Bert Gonzales, the fighting newsboy from Los Angeles, favorite with the local fans, knocked out a tall, slim gentleman, also from the Columbia Athletic club, in the second round. It was rather a tough night for the Columbia outfit, as both of their entries took the count.

L. A. Boxing Clubs Get Caught by Lid

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—The police commission has clamped the "lid" tighter on the Los Angeles sporting life when it denied the granting of a permit for a new boxing club and virtually suspended the licenses of two others and delayed action on another.

The application of the disabled veterans of the world, 3001 E. 1st, for a boxing club in Glendale boulevard was denied by the commission. No reason was given for the commission's action.

Bouts at the Lyceum club were temporarily halted when the commission ordered fire officials to inspect the place and determine whether or not it is a "fire trap."

Chief of Police Volmer also was asked to render a report on boxing during the month of December.

Application of the Pacific Coast Amusement company for a boxing permit was also held in abeyance pending police investigation.

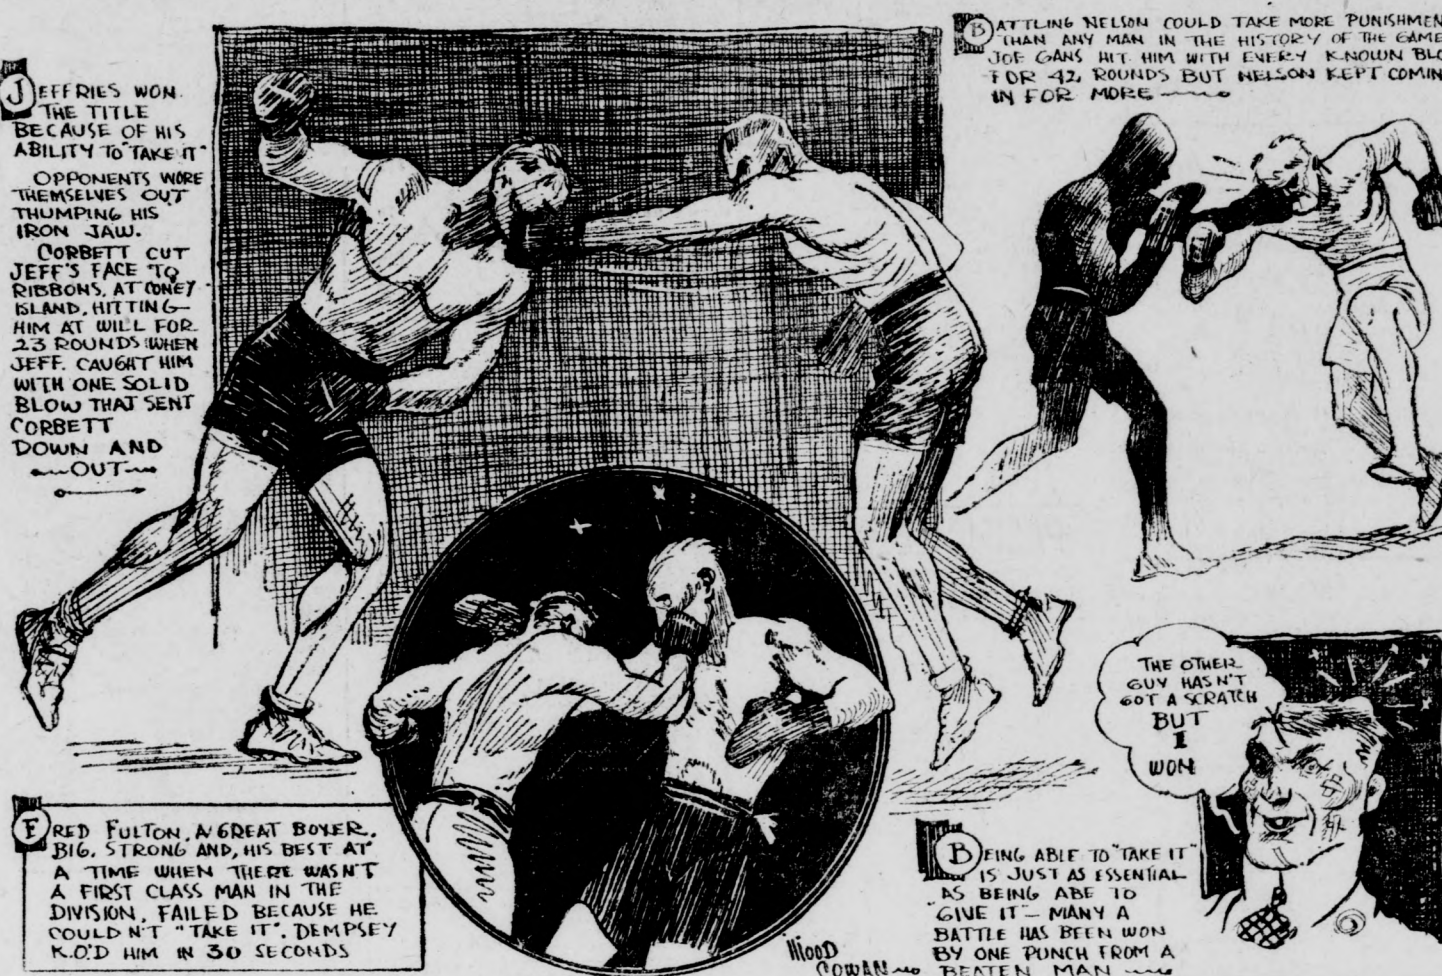

Will Book Girl Wife On Charge of Murder

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Katherine Malin, 19, sought by police as an accomplice in the murder of Edward Lehman, today will be booked by police on a charge of murder, according to detectives who questioned her. Mother love for her 2-year-old daughter proved more powerful than fear of hanging and drove her to surrender after she had eluded police seeking her since her husband's confession.

FIGHTERS WHO COULD "TAKE IT"

By Wood Cowan

JEFFRIES WON THE TITLE BECAUSE OF HIS ABILITY TO TAKE IT. OPPONENTS WERE THUMPED HIS IRON JAW.

CORBETT CUT JEFF'S FACE TO BLEED. AT ONE POINT, HITTING HIM AT WILL FOR 23 ROUNDS WHEN JEFF. CAUGHT HIM WITH ONE SOLID BLOW THAT SENT CORBETT DOWN AND OUT.

FRED FULTON, A GREAT BOXER, BIG, STRONG AND HIS BEST AT A TIME WHEN THERE WASN'T A FIRST CLASS MAN IN THE DIVISION, FAILED BECAUSE HE COULDN'T "TAKE IT." DEMPSEY K.O'D HIM IN 30 SECONDS.

THE OTHER GUY WASN'T BUT I WON.

BEING ABLE TO "TAKE IT" IS JUST AS ESSENTIAL AS BEING ABLE TO GIVE IT—MANY A BATTLE HAS BEEN WON BY ONE PUNCH FROM A BEATEN MAN.

To be able to "take it" is as essential to a fighter's success as his ability to "give it."

Many a fight and many a title have been won by a single blow from a seemingly beaten man.

Often the loser of a ring battle remains unmarked, while the winner nurses a shiner, a sore chin, a bruised head and puffed lips.

Before Firpo met Dempsey, the Wild Bull's ability to "take it" was the one unknown quantity.

Whether Jim Jeffries or old Fitzsimmons could have gotten up after taking the beating that Firpo took at Dempsey's hands, of course, is impossible to determine.

The fact that Firpo went down but came back fighting and was able to send the champion flying through the ropes ten seconds after he had himself taken a nine count, shows that the South American can certainly "take it."

Jim Jeffries was another heavyweight, who won most of his battles through the strength of his iron jaw.

When Jeff first came East and fought Bob Armstrong, at Coney Island, the clever negro sent everything he had at Jeffries' chin, until he was so arm weary and discouraged that he became an easy prey for one of Jim's mighty blows.

Later, after Jeff had won the title, Corbett cut his face to a pulp for twenty-three rounds at the same resort. The challenger had the fight won by a mile until Jeffries connected with a wild one and retained the title.

Then Bob Fitzsimmons was a mark for Corbett's jabs in their fight at Carson City. For six rounds, the Cornishman took an awful beating, but he got up from a count in the sixth to come back and win the championship.

Fitz could "take it."

Gus Ruhlin had him dazed and staggering, but the old blacksmith came out of it to win by a knockout. Choyinski had him on the floor, but Fitz wouldn't stay down. Bob was great because he could hit and he could stand the gaff.

Dempsey proved that he, too, could "take it," for Firpo hit him not less than twenty times, as the other a combination of everything a real champion needs except the ability to "take it."

Fulton could box; he was fast, big, strong, but what a pitiful sight he was when some third-rater jabbed him on that long, weak jaw of his!

Johnny Dundee is another baby who can take a punch and come back. But one knockout is registered against him in all his long ring career.

Firpo is far from his top form. Wait until that boy develops some sort of a defense and along with his ability to "take it" he'll just about be even money the next time he faces Dempsey.

Dr. Parker states that he has investigated Mr. Connelley and his associates to the best of his ability and believes them to be fully able to carry out their obligations under the contract. The result will give Glendale a hotel of which the city may well be proud, and will vest the risk in the hands of professional hotel people, making for a greater likelihood of profitable investment.

At the close of last night's meeting, the stockholders of the Glendale Hotel company gave the board of directors a hearty vote of thanks for their faithful efforts, in some forty separate meetings, to bring to Glendale a first-class hotel. That such a hotel is now to be a certainty is due in no small measure, it is felt, to their initiative.

At the close of last night's meeting, the stockholders of the Glendale Hotel company gave the board of directors a hearty vote of thanks for their faithful efforts, in some forty separate meetings, to bring to Glendale a first-class hotel. That such a hotel is now to be a certainty is due in no small measure, it is felt, to their initiative.

Man Gets Heavy Fine On False Testimony

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28.—Harry M. Swarstad, restaurant proprietor, and B. Campbell, cook for Swarstad, were fined $500 and $1, respectively, by Police Judge O. W. Anderson for violation of the Volstead act.

Swarstad received a 500 times larger fine because he was proven to have testified falsely in saying that he had sold the restaurant, and plead not guilty. Campbell admitted the truth of the charge and plead guilty.

It developed that Swarstad had arranged with Campbell to plead guilty with the understanding that he would pay Campbell's fine in order to forestall cancellation of the restaurant license held by Swarstad.

WANT 'PEAK WAGES'

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28.—Peaceful settlement of the demands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and restoration of the "peak wages" of 1920 will be the stakes for which the railroad union executives will be playing in the conference with officials of the New York Central railroad in New York December 4, International News Service learned authoritatively today.

Outgoing C. of C. Directors Renew Pledge of Support To Work of Organization

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

Pleasure in the associations formed during their term of office and regret at severing their close relationship with the members of the board who still remain to carry on the duties of Glendale Chamber of Commerce were expressed yesterday by the outgoing directors at their luncheon in the Glendale Tavern—the final luncheon of the board that has carried on the work and assumed the heavy responsibilities of the organization during the past year.

A special tribute was paid by President Jesse E. Smith, to C. E. Kimlin, one of the appointive directors, who is at present suffering from a break-down in health. The president Smith declared, to the unreserved fashion in which he has devoted himself and his energies to the official and civic duties that have been laid on him. The responsibilities that have rested on Mr. Kimlin for the past year, as a director of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, as a member of the City Council, and as one of the guiding spirits in the erection and management of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital's new home, have taxed his strength beyond the limit, and his present breakdown comes, President Smith stated, as a direct result of his devotion to his duties in these various lines.

Regrets Parting

Peter L. Ferry, another of the retiring directors, was absent from the luncheon, but the others, President Jesse E. Smith, C. D. Lusby, second vice president; Roy L. Kent, David L. Gregg, Dan Campbell and L. N. Wilson, expressed their pleasure in the associations of the time they have held office and their regret at leaving the goodly company with which they have worked so harmoniously through such an important epoch in the development of the city they all love so well. And as each director in turn rose to his feet to speak his brief farewell, he pledged himself anew to stand ready to aid Glendale and its interests, as well as the Chamber of Commerce, by every means in his power.

In reviewing the thirteen years that have elapsed since his arrival in Glendale, Roy L. Kent, who has held office in the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for three years, declared that he was proud to have had a share in the development of the city from a town of 2000 people to its present magnitude.

Community Creed

C. D. Lusby recalled the time when the city could have secured the East Broadway site of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital for a civic center, at a cost estimated at $200,000 for the ground and the buildings, but the power that were at that time, negated the proposal to vote bonds for the project, and the comparison between the cost at that time and the cost of the same project now was, he declared, a startling one. Mr. Lusby read The Community Creed, which expressed the pride of a citizen in the past of his city, his pride in its present accomplishments, and his faith in its future.

"The three years that I have spent on this board," declared

SHOWS ADVANCES IN TELEGRAPHING

Official to Western Union
Tells Salient Facts of System's Growth

Speaking before the representatives of the San Fernando Valley Associated Chambers of Commerce at dinner in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse last night, D. K. Thomas, Los Angeles commercial manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, taking as his subject "Some Little Known Facts About The Telegraph," revealed the advances that have been made since the invention of the Morse sounder in 1837. Mr. Thomas said:

"Two million messages per month representing sixty-seven million words of matter pass over the Los Angeles Western Union wires, of which district the Glendale office is a part. Stacked vertically these messages would make a pile seven times higher than the new Security Building in Glendale. This concrete illustration tells its own story of the telegraph from its feeble beginning to its position today as the backbone of a world communication system.

"Originally through the use of the Morse key and sounder invented by Prof. F. B. Morse in 1837, it was only possible to handle one message over one wire, later two, then four, until now in the multiplex printing telegraph, sixteen operators can work on one wire at one time sending and receiving messages without any one message interfering with another. Under the multiplex system an operator sits at a machine resembling a typewriter, the keys of which, however, instead of printing letters upon a sheet of paper, perforate a constantly moving tape which passes through a transmitter causing electrical impulses to be carried over the wire in a manner similar to that where in the perforations of a music roll actuate the keys of a player piano. At the distant end the impulses cause the message to be transformed back into the letter or numeral character each letter being typed on the blank in perfect form, seemingly without any directing intelligence.

Veteran Wire Operators

"The first telegraph line in Southern California connected San Francisco and Los Angeles, the first message being sent at 8 p. m., October 8, 1860, by Mayor Mellus to the San Francisco executive. At that time the rate for ten words to San Francisco was $2.50. J. C. Sherer and Edwin H. Reese, of the City Treasurer's office, Glendale, are two of the first Morse telegraphers in the state. The advance of the telegraph in the Southwest has been such that today Glendale and the San Fernando Valley are in almost momentary touch with forty-three of the largest centers of the country through a system of direct wires radiating from the Los Angeles distributing center, the third largest of the 26,000 offices comprising the Western Union system.

The physical handicaps through which wires must work constantly in order to render an uninterrupted service are interesting. In the high Sierras wires are often buried 20 feet in snow during the winter season. Linemen work in temperatures ranging from 40 degrees below zero to 131 degrees above. On the desert, sandstorms literally saw wooden poles off at the base, making it necessary to replace a complete pole line over such a stretch about every six years.

"The purpose of the telegraph company is to help American business to speed up production and distribution still further in order that the vast commercial potentialities of this nation may more adequately be sounded."

Bobcat Dangerous Foe Of Common House Cat

COOKS SPRINGS, (COLUSA CO.), Nov. 28.—Domestic cats are ill-equipped by nature to combat with the bobcats, which are numerous this season, according to Dr. R. A. Minor.

The house cats wander a short distance into the adjacent hills to catch gophers. Since many of them of late have not returned, an investigation was made that disclosed three house cats lying dead in the brush, practically disemboweled by their wild cousins.

Elko, Nevada's Public Land Area is Largest

Of this total more than seven million acres are within the boundary lines of Elko county.

ROUND THE WORLD FLIGHT TO START IN SPRING

Plan Is Described As Most Ambitious Adventure of America

One of the five planes of similar design chosen for the round-the-world flight to be undertaken by the Army Air Service next March. The map shows the official route chosen.

By JOHN T. LEWING, JR.
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Only the formal naming by the Air Service of the men who will man the "planes"—and there is no scarcity of volunteers and talent—remains to be done to complete the details of the most ambitious adventure ever undertaken by a department, the "round-the-world airplane flight."

Planes with fifty-foot wing spread, equipped with Liberty 12-cylinder engines of 400 horsepower will be used. These planes are officially known as Douglas World Cruisers. They are now being given the finishing touches in the plant of the Douglas Aircraft company at Santa Monica, Calif. The aim of the voyage is to demonstrate that airplanes have reached the stage of development where they can operate safely and efficiently far away from their base.

Flight in Spring

The start will be made from Langley field, near here, in late March or April. Three or four months probably will be required to complete the trip around the globe back to Washington.

Starting at Washington, the first stop will be McCook field, Dayton, Ohio, 400 miles. From Dayton the ships will fly to St. Joseph, Mo., 560 miles, thence to Cheyenne, Wyo., 500 miles to Salt Lake City, Utah, 400 miles; Boise, Idaho, 320 miles; Seattle, Wash., 40 miles.

Leaving the United States, the next stop will be Vancouver, B. C., 150 miles; Prince Rupert, B. C., 500 miles; thence to Wrangell, Alaska, 100 miles. Skirting the southern shores of Alaska, the next stop will be Yakutat, 350 miles; Cordova, 250 miles; Kodiak, 400 miles.

Leaving the shores of North America, the ships will fly to Unalaska, Aleutian Islands, 650 miles over water, thence to Attu Island, 700 miles over water; thence to Shum Shu Island Japan, 850 miles over water.

Flying southward over Japan, the next stop will be Nemuro, 600 miles; Amori, 250 miles; Tsh. No. 200 miles; Tokyo, 225 miles; Osaka, 250 miles; Nagasaki, 350 miles.

Fly Over Mandalay
Thence into China to Shanghai, 600 miles; to Poochow, 450 miles; Canton, 500 miles, and on into Indo-China, stopping at Hanoi, 600 miles.

Flying over India the route leads to Mandalay, 600 miles; Calcutta, 500 miles; Allahabad, 500 miles; Delhi, 400 miles, and Karachi, 700 miles.

Here the flyers enter Persia, stopping at Chonbar, 400 miles; Lar, 500 miles, and Bushire, 250 miles.

Thence to Bagdad, Mesopotamia, 500 miles; Damascus, Syria, 500 miles; Aleppo, Turkey, 300 miles; Ankara, 200 miles; 350 miles; Constantinople, 200 miles; Adrianople, Bulgaria, 150 miles; Bucharest, Roumania, 200 miles; Belgrade, Serbia, 300 miles; Budapest, Hungary, 225 miles; Vienna, Austria, 150 miles; Munich, Germany, 250 miles; Strassburg, Germany, 200 miles; Paris, France, 275 miles.

From Paris two routes are under consideration. One leads to London, 225 miles; Aberdeen, Scotland, 400 miles; Faroe Island, 400 miles over water; Reykjavik, Iceland, 550 miles over water; Angmagssalik, Greenland, 500 miles over water; Frederiksdal, Greenland, 500 miles; Hamilton Inlet, Canada, 700 miles over water; Quebec, Canada, 800 miles; thence to New York, 450 miles, and Washington, 220 miles.

On their arrival in Seattle the flyers will be equipped with pontoons so that water landings may be made if necessary.

SCHEDULE GIVES WORKERS CHANGE

Second Period of Campaign
Offers Contestants Big
Opportunities

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

The schedule for the second period, which is a little less than the first, still gives ambitious workers an opportunity to increase their lead and also gives those who are lower on the list an opportunity to make a strong bid for the leadership if they will apply their efforts during the present period. Some seem to think that they don't stand a chance of winning one of the grand capital prizes. However, this is a mistaken idea. Just because you do not head the list at this time is no reason why you cannot secure enough subscriptions to give you plenty of credits to get to the top of the list. Do you know that ten subscriptions for five years each would give you 700,000 credits, or more credits than any of the club members have to their credit at this time.

Not a Goal
The first period of the campaign is over. It is not a goal, only a step forward. While it is true that subscriptions are worth just a little less, yet each club member profited so equally during the first period that no one has any material advantage. It's not what you have done that counts so much as what you do from now on that will make you a grand prize winner or set you back where you will have to be contented with one of the smaller prizes.

The public is watching this campaign with intense interest and if you want the support of your friends and the public you will have to show them that you are interesting by putting forth your very best efforts during the balance of the campaign, for the public loves to help a winner and those who work are bound to be the winners. The way to win and win big is to make each day a banner day during the second period before the credits take another drop. If you have done well today then determine to do even better tomorrow. Aim high, go after the $2250 building lot in Sparr Heights or one of the other grand capital prizes. They are within your reach if you will only reach out and grasp them. It takes time and effort to be a big winner but bear in mind that all the good things that you get in this life come to you only after a long hard struggle and the things that you get without effort are not worth having.

The second period will close one week from Saturday and it is up to you to win or lose according to your efforts.

Atwater Society to Stage Picture Show

The Atwater Community society, Arthur Gilman, president, held a meeting at the new school building on Atwater avenue on Monday night. Matters of community interest were discussed. The next meeting will be held at the business house at the corner of Los Feliz and Seneca street.

Friday night, December 14, was chosen for the moving picture show to be given in the new school building.

Thinks Frogs Reason, Have Taste For Bees

RIVERBANK, (STANISLAUS CO.), Nov. 28.—H. B. Wells, bee fancier, is converted to the belief that even frogs are endowed with reason.

Recently Wells found his bees becoming very apparent. He discovered several frogs eating his bees by the dozen with great relish. The beekeeper then set a trap in the form of a box filled with damp earth and properly baited. The next morning he caught six additional frogs. Not wishing to kill them, the beekeeper carried them in a paper bag to the Stanislaus River, six hundred yards away, but the bees fatally showed little decrease.

Finally he painted a white cross on the backs of five frogs, and as usual threw them into the river. Within seventy-two hours, they were back at the bee stands again, feasting on honey bees.

As a consequence Wells has elevated the bee stands three feet from the ground and concluded to let the frogs remain undisturbed.

SEEKS PENSION RAISE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Another effort to increase the pensions of American war veterans will be made in the next congress, Representative Fuller, Republican of Illinois, announced. Legislation will be introduced similar to the Bureau pension bill which was vetoed by the late President Harding because of the large expenditures involved.

Rail Officials Will Speak at Convention

SANTA ANA, (ORANGE CO.), Nov. 28.—Among the important speakers who will address the Fruit Growers' convention to be held in Santa Ana, December 6-7, will be William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific railroad; Ralph Merritt, chairman of the national committee investigating the transportation situation with reference to agriculture and president of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' Association, and M. L. Goin, of the Southern Pacific, who will discuss uniform quarantine laws.

Sproule will explain the attitude of the Southern Pacific on the building of refrigerator cars. G. H. Hecke, director of this state department of agriculture, announces that representatives of all railroads operating in California will be present.

Particular attention will be paid to the immigration problem as it affects the farmer.

CARRY UNMASKING BILL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 28.—The West amendment, calculated to unmask the Ku Klux Klan, was adopted as section three of the so-called anti-Klan bill by the senate yesterday afternoon. Unanimous adoption of two sections providing heavy penalties for trespassing while disguised and for assault while disguised followed immediately.

In the first place, Glendale is in California, and, being a Californian, either native or adopted, is indeed a great blessing. Next, Glendale is every day proving her rightful claim to being "the fastest growing city in the United States," and that's another good reason why Glendalians should be thankful tomorrow.

There is no better time to count your blessings than on Thanksgiving Day—that is what it is for. So, when you give thanks for your blessings, we want you to know that we join with you; and will do all in our power to co-operate in the up-building of Glendale the coming year.

TODAY—Carlton Club Yields to Guests; British Beauties to Storm U. S.; Dundreary Whiskers "in" Again.
By LUTHER A. HUSTON
By International News Service

LONDON, Nov. 27.—In olden days a club in England was a place into which the female of the species could not pursue the male. But "them days are gone forever," and the last stronghold of the harassed Englishman is yielding to the onslaughts of modern femininity.

Not a few of the older generation of English clubmen are viewing with alarm, the latest innovation of the Carlton Club. This club for years has been the shining example of the refuge where men could be alone, and women could not molest them. No women—and, in fact, no guest of any sort—ever was allowed across its threshold.

Now, however, the Carlton Club has so far succumbed to the march of progress, that guests and women are to be admitted within its portals. The admission, it is true, is qualified to the extent that the club will maintain the sanctity of its original quarters, but will build and equip an "annex," where members may receive and entertain their friends of both sexes.

And staid Englishmen of the old school, are beginning to shake their heads in wonder where the "petticoat invasion" of ancient British institutions will end.

English stage beauties are going to throw down the gauntlet to their pulchritudinous sisters in America. Broadway will be allowed to pick the winner of the struggle.

Twenty-four of England's fairest chorus girls are to be selected to go to America to appear in an All-English revue, that will open in New York before New Year's Day. Half of the number already have been selected, and competition for the remaining places is keen. Andre Chariot, who is doing the picking, describes his "ideal" as follows:

"She is made by a pretty figure and a pretty or attractive face. She is not expected to have a first-class voice, nor need she necessarily be a beauty, but she must have personality. Five feet three to five feet five inches, is the best height; the color of the eyes does not matter."

Experts in English beauty predict that the British beauty will give blonde Broadway a thrill that will make it sit up and acknowledge that its previous ideas of pulchritude need revision.

"Dundreary whiskers," the kind that grandpa used to wear, are coming in again. Just now a "hair show" is being held in London, at which all the news wrinkles in styles of dress for hair and whiskers of men are on display. The tonsorial experts at the show are touting the virtues of the mutton-chop style of hair.

Radical changes in masculine coiffure are also being advocated. If they are adopted, men soon will be going around with a "part" in their hair extending clear from their foreheads to the nape of their necks. An alternative style is to part the hair on each side, leaving a nice little cock's comb in the center.

It remains to be seen if these styles actually will catch on, but if they do, the snappy Englishman will soon be a "thing of beauty and a joy forever," and the bald-headed man will be even more hopelessly behind the times.

Chinese carpets, according to leading London dealers, are all the rage now. The most popular backgrounds are canary, chrysanthemum, lilac blue, soft brown, fawn and petunia. Decorative figures are not numerous, in contrast to the usual Oriental style of carpet. English carpet manufacturers are copying the new style to meet the changing fashion.

Ford Lloyd, a London wireless expert, has advanced the novel theory that "listening in" is beneficial to health. He cites a case of a young girl, previously nervous and debilitated, who became robust and healthy, after six months of devotion to the wireless. His theory is that the contact, however slight, with the electrical currents of the wireless is beneficial to the health of the listener.

Who's Who in the Day's News

J. P. MORGAN

The respect in which U. S. officials hold J. P. Morgan's knowledge of foreign industrial and financial conditions is indicated by the efforts being made to have the financier serve as one of America's unofficial observers at the council planned to conduct a reparations Germany's condition. The original object of the survey was to establish the amount of reparations Germany is able to pay. France, however, wishes to hear the council of this power.

Morgan is a "chip off the old block," his closest friends who knew his father before him say. Unlike some sons who inherited wealth and the power that goes with it from their fathers, Morgan early proved himself a capable business man and was ready to shoulder all the responsibilities laid down by the elder J. P. Morgan when he died in 1913.

The present J. P. is now fifty-six. He was born in Irvington, N. Y., Sept. 7, 1857. He is a graduate of Harvard and joined his father in the Morgan offices immediately after graduation, starting in the London branch, where he obtained his first insight into European financial ideas. In 1901 he returned to New York.

Morgan's financial interests are varied. While he is not rated as the world's richest man, his financial power ranks beyond that of many richer men.

Among the interesting financial achievements of his firm are the payment of $40,000,000 in gold to the French Panama Canal Co. for the U. S., loaning of $12,000,000 to Russia, the organization of a

ALEXANDER ARCHIPENKO

Called by many critics the greatest living sculptor, Alexander Archipenko has come to this country to open what he terms a "modern school of art." America, Archipenko believes, is the place in which to look for the great art of the future because it is the only country not jaded and rent by the war.

The famous sculptor is above medium height, robust, with a strong Slavic face, the eager eyes of an artist and the suave, gentle ways of a nobleman. His home is in Kiev, Russia. Examples of his work are on exhibition in most of the art museums of Europe. Some of his best efforts are in American homes. Even Japan boasts of one or two of his important contributions.

Archipenko had been conducting a school in Berlin for some time before he closed it several weeks ago to go to Prague, where he executed a bust of President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia.

He intends giving exhibitions in various parts of the country before establishing his school in New York.

DOLLY SISTERS ARE SEPARATED

Corsican Bandit Makes Dancer 'Do Her Stuff'

PARIS, Nov. 28.—Jennie and Rosie Dolly separated for once—and by a bandit!

Jennie is busy telling an amazed and amused Champs Elysees a marvelous tale of a forced aeroplane landing in wildest Corsica, a night in the lair of the notorious bandit, Nonce Romanelli, and a thrilling rescue by the handsome Viscount de La Rochefoucauld, while the other one of the almost inseparable pair, Rosie, pines and listens jealously to her sister's thrilling recital.

It happened in Corsica. While cruising the Mediterranean in the La Rochefoucauld yacht, the party of which Jennie was a member landed at Ajaccio, a Corsican port. While the rest of the excursionists were resting at the hotel, Jennie set out on a tour or her own. She happened on the Ajaccio-Marseilles airport just one of the pilots and induced one of the pilots to take her up for a view of the picturesque mountains. Something went wrong with the motor and the plane was forced to descend in a wild spot in the hills. Luckily, they escaped mishap. In endeavoring to find a village, Jennie and the pilot were taken in tow, genially but forcibly, by two armed men, and guided to a house set in an almost inaccessible ravine.

Imagine Jennie Dolly's consternation when she learned it was the house of Romanelli, the bandit who has defied the French gendarmes for seventeen years.

She found him tenderly cared for by his two beautiful daughters, Francoise and Mancina, and worshipped by his followers. When he learned her identity—newspapers keep even Corsican bandits up to date on all sorts of affairs—he insisted that she dance for him. For a half hour she entertained the bandit and the members of his band to the accompaniment of mandolins and guitars, and when she had finished he picked her up and kissed her.

"I was scared," she admits. But she was treated kindly until the worried La Rochefoucauld and a searching party arrived, piloted by Romanelli's bandits. Jennie was able to assure them that she was in the hands of one of the most hospitable of friends, and soon everybody was shaking hands.

An immediate return across the precipitous mountain trails was deemed inadvisable, so Romanelli and his "guests" played poker to pass away the time. Romanelli was the winner, but insisted on returning all he had won.

No wonder Rosie pines.

THE CATSKILLS

Oh, the vastness of the Catskills
And the thrill that comes o'er
When you see the verdant mountains
Topped by azure skies of blue.

As you stand before the mighty,
Awe'd by majestic state
Of the grandeur of the Catskills
You are borne to heaven's gate.

And the splendor of the sunsets,
Come in tones of russet gold,
Reveals to you the magic brush
The great Artist can unfold.

And the glory of the moonlight,
Shining silver on the trees,
Mingles with the fresh pine odor
Wafted by the evening breeze.

The memory of the Catskills
And the scenes are not in vain,
For, dreaming, I shall wait the day
To bring me back again.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE HONEYSUCKLE
Outside of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, and climbing high up on one side, was a mass of honeysuckle vine. In summer, the leaves of the vine were green. Nestling amid the leaves were white and pale yellow flowers, smelling most sweetly.

Down inside each flower was a drop of honey, and the butterflies, with their long tongues, and the humming birds, whose slender bills were as long as the uncurled tongues of the butterflies, came to suck this honey.

That is why the vine on Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow was called honeysuckle—for from it the butterflies and humming birds sucked the sweet honey.

But now winter was come and the flowers had fallen from the vine. The leaves were brown instead of green, and Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy said:

"Uncle Wiggily, there is so much dead honeysuckle vine clinging to your bungalow, and shutting off the light from the window, that I think you had better cut away some of the vine."

"It shall be done," promised the bunny rabbit gentleman, and with his sharp teeth, he gnawed through the long tangle of vines growing and climbing up the side of the bungalow and pulled them down.

The tangle of honeysuckle vine was piled in the back yard. "When it is dry I shall burn it," said Uncle Wiggily. "Perhaps it may be ready to burn by Thanksgiving, and I will make a bonfire for the animal boys and girls to toast their marshmallow candies."

"Always thinking of something jolly, you are," laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"That's what keeps me young," chuckled the bunny.

Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose and was going to hop to the woods to look for an adventure, when he saw Nannie and Billie Wagtail, the two goat children, coming across the back lots.

"I'll wait and take Nannie and Billie with me," thought the bunny gentleman. "We may have an adventure together."

Billie, seeing the tangled pile of honeysuckle in the yard, bleated to his sister:

"Hi, Nannie, see if you can jump over that big bunch of vine."

"All right," answered Nannie. "You jump first, Billie."

Billie shook his horns, stamped his feet on the ground and, taking a little run, leaped well over the tangle of vines.

Then Nannie ran and jumped, but she did not jump quite far enough, and she landed on the edge of the vines. The long pieces of honeysuckle tangled around her legs and Nannie fell.

"Oh, I'm so sorry," bleated Billie, hastening to pick up his sister.

"I'm not hurt!" laughed Nannie. "No, but you are certainly tangled!" said Uncle Wiggily, who hopped along to help get the vines off Nannie's legs. And it took quite some little time, for Nannie was all tangled up like knots in a piece of string. In fact, the long strands of honeysuckle vine were like strong pieces of cord.

Uncle Wiggily said to her, "Come, little goat children, come with me."

"Will you buy us lollypops—one, two three?" asked Billie.

"Ha! Ha! That's a pretty good little verse—yes, I'll buy you each a lollypop," promised the bunny.

"And if you get three there will be one for you," bleated Nannie.

"So there will be," chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "So there will be." Then all three of them went skipity-hop to the lollypop shop, going around the tangle of honeysuckle vines so they wouldn't be caught.

Eating their lollypops, Uncle Wiggily, Billie and Nannie went on their way home to the hollow stump bungalow, when, all of a sudden, as they reached the back lots, all at once out from behind a stone popped the Fuzzy Fox.

"I want ears to nibble," howled the Fuzzy Fox. "You three have lollypops to eat, and I want ears to nibble," and he chased after Uncle Wiggily, Nannie and Billie.

"Run, children, run!" cried the bunny. "Run with me."

"And jump over the honeysuckle—one, two three!" bleated Billie.

"That's right!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. "That's the shortest way into the bungalow. Jump over the pile of honeysuckle vines!"

"Run, children, run!" cried the bunny.

honeysuckle vines he fell. Soon he was all tangled up—his legs, his tail and his teeth. "Oh, wow! Double wow!" howled the Fox. "Come and untangle me." But no one would, and he had to stay there all in a tangle until night, when his wife came and gnawed him loose.

But the bunny's ears weren't nibbled, nor were Nannie's not Billie's, so they were happy. And if the legs of the table don't go walking off by themselves and let the dishes fall down, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the nut cracker.

POEMS That LIVE

Lines from
"THE BUILDING OF THE SHIP"
I.
Thou, too, sail on, O ship of state!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Great! Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
We know what Master laid thy keel,
What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast, and sail, and rope,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
In what a forge and what a heat
Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!
Fear not each sudden sound and shock,
'Tis but the wave and not the rock.

II.
'Tis but the flapping of the sail,
And not a rent made by the gale!

In spite of rock and tempest's roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee—are all with thee!

THE BEST
What's the best thing in the world?
June-rose, by May-dew impregnated;
Sweet south wind, that means no rain;
Truth, not cruel to a friend;
Pleasure, not in haste to end;
Beauty, not self-deck'd and cur'd;
Till its pride is over-plain;
Light, that never makes you wink;
Memory, that gives no pain;
Love, when, so, you're loved again.
What's the best thing in the world?
Something out of it, I think.

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ACUTE CORYZA—(Common Colds)—No. 2

We had the first paper on colds yesterday. If you missed it, please get yesterday's paper.

First, see that your personal hygiene is correct. (Diet, fresh air, clothes, exercise, etc.) Cold bathing for those who react well, undoubtedly does help to "harden" the system. Those who cannot take cold baths can dash the chest and arms with cold water. Second, do not come in close contact with those who are suffering from acute colds, for colds are contagious. Third, have any malformations, or growth in the nose or throat, attended to.

TREATMENT—

The preliminary symptoms of colds are usually dryness of the nose and dryness and soreness of the throat. Often, a local treatment with a swab or spray with an antiseptic solution, applied two or three times a day, will kill off the germs and abort a cold.

The following formulas are good. Eucalyptus oil, 30 drops; menthol, 10 grains; camphor, 15 grains; liquid petroleum, 4 ounces. One-fourth iodine and three-fourths glycerine is also a good formula. Gargle or spray the throat often with very hot water, and drink a liberal amount also. A teaspoonful of baking soda and a teaspoonful of salt to the pint of water will make the gargle more effective. Follow this with the oil or glycerine solution (two or three times a day).

This treatment can be continued during the cold if you do not succeed in aborting it. For the nasal treatment and for the throat also, it is best to get a good atomizer, giving a strong, coarse spray. The nasal douche may carry infectious discharges of the nose into the eustachian tube (the little tube which leads from the ears down into the back of the throat) and thus cause extension of the cold into the ears. So these douches are not to be recommended for home treatment.

If you massage around the outside of the nose, under the ears and jaws, with the fingers or with an electrical vibratory machine, that will bring the fresh blood to the parts and send the stagnating blood onward.

If you do not succeed in aborting the cold, it will take a definite course. Like other infectious diseases it is self-limited. Sooner or later the system manufactures a defense which overcomes it. One cold, instead of making one immune, predisposes one to another, so try to get yourself up to par as soon as possible. Unless you are under the care of a physician, internal drugs should not be used.

If a cold is very bad it is best to stay in bed for a few days. Have a paper bag pinned near to

PICTORIAL REVIEW

SIDE-CLOSING FROCKS SMART

A style that possesses a rich simplicity is this frock in black velvet. It is long-waisted and fastens at one side, the narrow revers and notched collar being stitched with very fine soutache braid. Velvet buttons trim the straight belt of self-material, but the side-line is of two-tone satin ribbon. The long, close-fitting sleeves are trimmed with braid and are so designed that they may be finished in flare effect. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1840. Sizes, 34 to 48 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

This buoyantly youthful model is faithfully copied in line and detail from one of the best-liked modes of Paris. It is fashioned of chiffon crepe, plaited from neck to heel, and trimmed with an apron tunic of crepe satin. Folded over the belt at either side of the front are tiny pockets of embroidery. A bias band of the satin finishes the neck. The plaited sleeves fall to the elbows and may be lengthened with deep cuffs, if desired. Medium size requires 6 3/4 yards 36-inch crepe, and 1 yard of satin.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

"Business life need not stifle the love of the beautiful and the love of home in a woman," is the theory of Miss Fay Fitzpatrick of Salina, Kansas. She is vice-president of the Fitzpatrick Mortgage Co., and office manager of the Fitzpatrick Insurance Co.

Few business men in the state let simmer for about two hours—or until very tender. Drain off the water and mash the pumpkin as you would boiled potatoes. Do not put it through a wire strainer (as so many recipes tell one to do) as this makes the pumpkin stringy, like rice potatoes. Simply mash it, then measure it. To two and one-half cups of it, add two eggs, four tablespoons of molasses, one cup of granulated sugar, two tablespoons of flour, two cups of sweet milk and two-thirds of a teaspoon of ground ginger. Your pie filling is now ready to be put into an unbaked lower crust. (Note: Many housekeepers like a combination of one-half squash. This gives a slightly different flavor to the pie, and I can recommend it heartily. The canned squash may be used for this purpose if desired.)

To Bake Pumpkin Pie: Any pie containing egg should be put into a quick oven for the first five minutes (till the pastry "sets"), then the oven heat should be reduced to medium-hot and the pie allowed to bake for about thirty-five minutes longer.

Tomorrow—More Fancywork Suggestions

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

CHINESE GIRL TO BE RUSSIAN DANCER
Anna Lowe Marjorie, a native of San Francisco's Chinatown, hopes to be an oriental Pavlova some day. Theodore Kosloff, world famous ballet master, says the Chinese girl shows wonderful promise and is the first of her race to take up the art of Russian ballet dancing. Would you ever take her for a Chinese miss?

BEAUTY CHATS

There is no reason why any woman should have ugly nails, for beautiful nails are only those which show they are well cared for. The shape does not matter so much. The essentials are a smooth cuticle, a moderately high polish, and no discoloration or dirt. Learn to be your own manicurist. It is very easy and saves you any amount of time and money.

If you know nothing about it follow these simple directions: With a long, fine file shape the ends of the nails to a moderately pointed oval. Hold the finger tips for five or ten minutes in a bowl of warm, soapy water. This softens the cuticle, the dead skin which has grown over the nail can be scraped off then quite easily either with the pointed blade of the file or a cuticle knife. The ugly, rough edge of the cuticle can then be cut with special scissors, and the dead skin at each side of the nail clipped off.

The nails should be cleaned underneath and the edges filed smooth with an emery board. Oil or cold cream should be rubbed into the nail and around it and allowed to stay on some minutes. It should be washed off then and the cuticle pushed back with an orangewood stick.

There are hundreds of nail polishes to choose from, but personally I think a rose tinted paste is best. This gives the nails just that faint pink which is always becoming, and does not dry the cuticle at the edges as a powder does. The paste should be wiped off and the nails given a final polish with a dry buffer.

Be sure to buy as good manicure scissors as you can afford. Cheap ones do not do their work properly. Good ones will be a satisfaction for years. The long, flexible file should be good quality also.

Miss T.—As you are being treated by a doctor, and evidently a good one, I think he should be the one to suggest the changes in your diet. I realize that it must be hard to be limited to so few things to eat, and I am very sorry that I cannot be of more service.

CHINESE PROTEST AMERICAN EDUCATION
The Chinese are protesting against the impractical character of the education given the young Chinamen studying in America at the expense of the Boxer indemnity. They return to China with nothing more than a store of book learning and a superficial knowledge of American life to show for their long sojourn at government charge in the United States. China needs men who are willing to work—not aspirants for government jobs.

TO HONOR BLACK MAMMIES
The white women of a southern state are planning to honor one very dear to their memories—the old negro mammy. If the plans of Mrs. George Washington of Nashville, Tenn., president of the Federated Clubs of Tennessee, are carried out, the largest city in each of the states' ten Congressional districts will have as a living memorial to these faithful servants and friends a home for old and poor negro women, where they can spend their last years in peace and comfort.

Mrs. Washington, whose husband incidentally is a lineal descendant of General George Washington's brother, first broached her plan in her inaugural speech to the executive board of Federated Clubs of Tennessee in Nashville last September.

Dinner Stories

Tommy, the diminutive office boy, had worked hard on a "salary" of five dollars a week, says Judge. He was a subdued little chap, faithful and quiet. Finally, however, he plucked up courage to ask for an increase. "How much more would you like?" inquired his employer. "Well," answered Tommy, "I don't think that three dollars a week more would be to much." You are rather a small boy to be earning eight dollars a week. "I suppose I am," said Tommy.

EAGLE ROCK

JUDGE BURKS TO ADDRESS MASONS

Third Degree to Be Conferred
By Eagle Rock Lodge
At Tonight's Meet

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock Eagle Rock Lodge, No. 442 A. F. & A. M., will confer the third degree when Judge Paul Burks, member of the Masonic education committee, one of the newly appointed Supreme Court judges, will deliver an address.

Local Masons are much interested in Glendale's plans for a new Masonic temple, which will be the finest structure of its kind in Southern California. The present structure, it is claimed, has outgrown its capacity. Construction on the new temple will start early in 1924, Masons report.

The degree of Royal Arch Mason was conferred upon ten members of local lodges at the Glendale temple, one night last week. At the meeting of December 5, officers will be elected, it is announced.

H. L. Terry Passes
No more beloved man ever lived in all these five friendly valleys than Howard L. Terry, prominent educator of Illinois and resident of Eagle Rock for the past five years, who died Saturday, November 17, 1923, at his home on Windermere avenue and Hill drive.

Mr. Terry, a native of Wisconsin and for fourteen years state inspector of high schools there, being superintendent of the Lake Mills high school for twelve years, was known as "the great teacher," to all his many friends.

Many of Mr. Terry's former students have themselves become famous. His influence was astonishing and the numbers of business and professional men who have looked him up in late years and thanked him for the instruction he gave them in their youth were great.

Howard L. Terry is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Terry, and two daughters, Mrs. George S. Pickrell of San Diego and Mrs. Morris M. Vile of Tacoma, Wash. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning, November 21, at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn memorial park, Glendale, where interment took place.

Coming Events
Perhaps the most immediate of coming events to attract the attention of the community as a whole is the United Thanksgiving service to be held tomorrow morning in the Presbyterian church, when Eagle Rock ministers will combine to offer a Christian program in keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving Day.

New Year's eve will be celebrated with a gay dinner dance at the Women's Twentieth Century club house. Mrs. A. G. Reilly, president of the club, is in charge. She promises a real old-fashioned turkey dinner, all the frolics of New Year and a wonderful dance. There are 150 reservations for sale.

Owing to the intervention of Thanksgiving day, the regular meeting of the Guild of the Episcopal church will be Friday, November 30, with Mrs. Burch of Satsuma avenue as hostess.

Keeps Role Mystery
Joe Griffin is keeping his role rather dark, and is not giving out any too much advance information on it, excepting to say that it is the best opportunity he has had in his many appearances in Glendale, where he is one of the best known and best liked of these players.

Jack Statham, who has had his fling at the professional stage, and has scored on a number of occasions is billed as the "Army Officer, Major Langtry." This is a comedy role of the calibre that Statham loves to portray, a rather gruff, Southern Major.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery is getting her ticket Captains in line, and the sixty ladies in this list are pleading themselves to see that no vacant seats will be found at the Tuesday Afternoon Club Theatre on either night of the presentation of "Oh-Ho."

FUGITIVE CONFESSES

HONOLULU, Nov. 28.—Edgar Stewart, alias Edwards, under arrest here as one of six fugitives who escaped from the Eastern penitentiary for Pennsylvania last July, confronted by evidence of his identity, in a statement to Captain of Detectives McDuffee and Burns operatives admitted he was wanted by the Pennsylvania authorities, where he was serving a sentence of from twelve to fourteen years.

According to the officers, Stewart declared his escape was made possible by a $30,000 bribery fund paid to prison guards by Pennsylvania politicians.

Enforce Curfew Law

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 28.—The first example of Santa Barbara's new curfew law enforcement was the arrest of a fifteen-year old girl at a dance hall after she had remained out past the 9 o'clock curfew hour. The girl, together with her mother, were haled into court on the charge.

After the district attorney had pointed out to the mother the danger of permitting a young girl without proper chaperonage to attend dance halls, and received a promise that the occurrence would not be repeated, both were allowed to return home.

Will Ban Crossings

SANTA ANA, Nov. 28.—Steps have been taken following the suggestion of N. T. Edwards of Orange, state highway commissioner, for the organization this week of an informal committee to work for the elimination of dangerous crossings in Orange county.

This committee will work to secure co-operation of railroads, the state, the county and citizens of the county in a plan to do away with hazardous road crossings.

Lights for Anaheim

ANAHEIM, Nov. 28.—Six miles of ornamental light along the main thoroughfares of Anaheim now seem assured, according to a report filed with the Chamber of Commerce indicating that all property owners on Broadway favor the new lighting system.

"Make Anaheim the best-lighted city in Southern California" was adopted by the chamber several months ago. But it was not until property owners agreed to pay for the installation of lamp posts did the board give the proposal any consideration.

BURBANK

FORTY CARS SET FREIGHT RECORD

Shipments to Burbank Over
S. P. Establish Highest
Figures Yet Known

With the arrival of forty carloads of freight last Monday, over the Southern Pacific, another Burbank record is smashed, the previous record being thirty-nine carloads in one day.

The shipments include lumber, hay, grain, household goods, immigrant shipments and three cars of automobiles. States J. McIntosh, local agent. Outbound shipments also show a healthy growth, according to Mr. McIntosh, the products of such factories as the Empire china, Moreland truck and Jergen's soap going from Burbank to markets all over the west.

The ticket business at the local station is very good, Mr. McIntosh reports, indicating that large numbers of people are constantly passing to and from this city. Numbers of them come from the east or middle west, he says, bringing with them all their household goods, at least two carloads of freight, much being made up of this material.

Kiwanians Hosts to Team

The Burbank football squad were the special guests of the local Kiwanis club at their noon luncheon today. At last week's meeting the present day school system was haled into court and given a hearing on the following charges:

1. That it teaches too many subjects.
2. Resulting in the neglect of the fundamentals.
3. It keeps too many children in school too long.

The school cost too much. The trial was held in the dining room of the Elizabeth hotel, during the progress of the luncheon, with Judge Bert Lewis presiding, the members of the Kiwanis club as the jury and Superintendent Richardson D. White of the Glendale city schools as attorney for the defense.

Mr. White defended his client on three of the four points, omitting No. 3 for lack of time. He pointed out that the large number of subjects taught were in answer to a public demand, that the fundamental sciences were thoroughly taught today than fifty years ago, and that education is our cheapest national asset and cannot be said to be costing too much unless its upkeep deprives the people of the necessities of life, which it most certainly does not.

The affair will take place at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse on North Central avenue and Lexington drive, beginning with a 6 o'clock dinner, followed by an informal program and dance. It is expected that 150 persons will be in attendance.

The program is to be an impromptu one, each person present being asked to tell the funniest thing that happened to him in college.

J. A. Anderson of Pasadena is secretary of the association, and Theron Bennett, of radio orchestra fame, is chairman of the executive committee.

Sell Water Bonds

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 28. The $200,000 issue of water bonds voted by this city has been sold to the Anglo-London & Paris company of Los Angeles. The bonds bear 4 3/4 per cent interest, which accounts for the long delay in disposing of them. When they were first advertised for sale no bids were offered.

The offer of the bidders was par and accrued interest to April 1, 1924, at which time the money is to be available.

COMMENT That's All

Giving Thanks to Almighty
Reasons to Be Thankful
Very Little Poverty Here
What Others Are Saying

By Gil A. Cowan

Tomorrow America observes Thanksgiving—a custom which is gradually taking root among the newer nations of the earth. And it is good that this country has given to the world a day for retrospection, a time of taking stock of material blessings and giving thanks to the Almighty Ruler of the Universe.

We humans are prone to forget, sometimes, that we have anything for which to be thankful. Indeed, a thankful spirit is more or less of a minus quantity, so many days in the year, that the one great day becomes a tremendous event in the lives of most of us.

Not only does Thanksgiving take root, to use such a term, but it buds and blossoms forth at Christmas time. Then comes the first of the year with resolutions of good intent—invariably omitting Thankfulness throughout the year.

So Thanksgiving is seasonal, it would seem. And it should be more or less permanent. If we could but preserve in cold storage, some of the Thanksgiving thoughts, as well as the turkey, what a wonderful thing it would be.

In other columns of The Glendale Evening News you will see the spirit of Thanksgiving evinced. You will note that Glendale has every reason to be thankful. And every resident should be glad to be among those who will observe the day "at home" here.

The most outstanding feature, to the writer's way of thinking, is that no poverty to speak of, is found in the confines of this city.

How well do we remember Thanksgiving two or three years ago, when the good soul, now departed, Jack Huntley, made ready a Thanksgiving dinner at a local cafe for all the boys and girls who were otherwise to go without.

And, strange to say, not a half dozen youngsters were banded up. All except one came from outside of the city itself, which was an indication of the prosperity and otherwise well organized charity found here.

We hope the same is true tomorrow—that there will be even one who goes without a dinner worthy of the name.

Others' views of events are more interesting than our own, we sometimes opine, which gives us license to clip a few lines, as follows:

We read the other day that some scientist says the next war will be fought by radio. From the way our outfit sounds some nights, it is being done right now.—Willows Journal.

With two candidates for president, an active volcano and Los Angeles, California, should stick out of the top of the earth like a sore toe for the next eighteen months.—Red Bluff News.

Some critics ask where our standing arm is. Easy. It is in the street cars.—San Jose News.

Again has come the Christmas season, when children flatten their noses against the windows of the stores and expand their imaginations by looking at the fairyland displays.—Oakland Tribune.

The derby, popularly known as the "iron horse," appears to be doomed. It still has a big sale in the eastern states, but the trend nationally is toward soft felt hats and caps. Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for the derby fits so tightly that it interferes with flow of blood in the scalp. Result baldness.—Chicago Enterprise.

Asserted Heiress in Search For Million

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28.—A search of records in the state controller's office to determine whether the $1,000,000 estate believed to have been left by Mrs. Mary Hartness, who died in San Francisco in 1912, had escheated to the state, failed to disclose any trace of the fortune.

Examination of the state records was ordered by State Controller Ray L. Riley after Mrs. Mae Hartnett of San Francisco, a niece of the deceased, had been granted letters of administration in the estate and started a search for the missing money.

TULARE (Tulare Co.), Nov. 28.—It cost Lee Crammer of Bakersfield $45 to play with his team against Selma's football squad. Crammer was halted by a traffic officer while racing through Tulare and haled before Judge D. P. Kendrick, who fined him $45, or at the rate of $1 per mile, for speeding.
